

RECALL OF CHINESE WINE PRODUCTS PRODUCED BY M/S LAM HOCK LEONG TRADING CO.

The Agri-Food and Veterinary Authority's (AVA) monitoring and surveillance programme has detected excessive levels of methanol in two Chinese wine products manufactured by M/s Lam Hock Leong Trading Company.

2 The two implicated products found with excessive levels of methanol are "King Narcissus brand Ginseng Wine Tonic" and "Camel Brand Rice Wine". The two products have been recalled from sale.

S/No	Product Description	Product Image
1	"King Narcissus" brand Ginseng Wine Tonic

MEDIA RELEASE

2	"Camel Brand Rice Wine"
---	-------------------------	---

3 As a precautionary measure, AVA has also instructed the factory to suspend its production and recall all the Chinese wine products produced by the factory with immediate effect, pending AVA's investigation. Retailers have also been instructed to remove all the Chinese wine products produced by M/s Lam Hock Leong Trading Company from sale.

4 Details of the Chinese wine products produced by M/s Lam Hock Leong Trading Company are as follows:

S/No	Product Description	Packing Size (in glass bottle)
a	"King Narcissus" brand Ginseng Wine Tonic	520 ml, 335 ml, 160 ml
b	"King Narcissus" brand Superior Rice Wine	640 ml, 320 ml
c	"King Narcissus" brand Rice Wine	520 ml, 320 ml, 160 ml
d	"Camel" brand Rice Wine	520 ml, 160 ml
e	"Camel" brand Wu Chia Pi Chiew	520 ml, 320 ml, 160 ml
f	"Camel" brand Rose Wine (Mei Kuei Lu Chiew)	520 ml, 320 ml, 160 ml
g	"Chon Mar" brand Red Samsu	320 ml, 160 ml

MEDIA RELEASE

5 Excessive intake of methanol may cause visual disturbances, nausea, abdominal and muscle pain, dizziness, seizures and coma.

6 Consumers who have purchased any of the seven wine products produced by the company should discard the products and not consume them.

Issued by Agri-Food & Veterinary Authority on 26 August 2009

MEDIA RELEASE